

Food of the Future

Friday, July 19th from 16:30-17:30
in the English Support Room,
Nagasaki University - Katafuchi Campus

A growing world population and climate change is making it more difficult to produce enough food for everyone. Many people are considering a food source that would be surprising to most Japanese. This food provides a lot of protein, vitamins and minerals, but is cheap to produce, and requires little water and land to raise. Please come to this special lecture and learn about this food of the future and try some as well.
