The image shows a standard sheet of graph paper. A solid black vertical line runs down the left side, creating a margin. A solid black horizontal line runs across the top, creating a header. In the header area, there is a ruler scale starting from 0 on the left and ending at 10 on the right. The scale has major markings every centimeter and minor markings every millimeter. Below the header line, the rest of the page is filled with a light gray grid pattern, with lines spaced at regular intervals. There are three small black squares located along the left margin line: one near the top, one in the middle, and one near the bottom.
